READING ATTAINMENT TEST (ENGLISH)

A mobile drilling rig is a self contained portable unit and can be floated from one site to another. It may be a drilling ship, semi submersible or jack-up unit. Drilling from these mobile units is carried out as on land with the decks of the jack-up, semi submersible or drill ship providing a stable surface to mount the drill rig. There are two basic methods for drilling an exploratory well, the cable tool and the hydraulic rotary method. Cable tools are used principally in the older, shallower areas and have been replaced in recent years by the rotary drilling technique.
