

REFERENCES

- Acosta, E. S. (2001). A study of school climate, academic self-concept, and academic achievement [Doctoral dissertation, Unpublished].
- Deluca, H. M. (2003). The impact of school environment on student psychology and social behavior [Unpublished manuscript].
- Goswami, A. (2001). Developing environmental consciousness in schools: An experimental study. New Delhi: NCERT.
- Gandhi, N. (2017). Study of educational interest in relation to school environment. National Journal of Multidisciplinary Research and Development, 2(4), 45–49.
- Hasan, H. J. (2016). Vocational interests and school environment among students. [Unpublished Research Study].
- Illiyas, M., & Charles, M. A. A. (n.d.). Mathematics interest and school environment: A correlative study in Chennai [Research report].
- Jahan, H. (2016). School environment and academic engagement. [Unpublished].
- Kumaran, D. (2001). A study on organizational climate and academic performance at the higher secondary level. Chennai: Tamil Nadu State Council for Educational Research and Training.
- Mishra, R., & Ali, B. (n.d.). Impact of school climate on student learning and teacher burnout. [Unpublished].
- Mumthas, N., & Abdual, J. K. (2008). Leadership, organizational climate and teacher effectiveness: A regression analysis. Kerala Journal of Educational Research, 2(3), 17–22.
- Narula, N. (2007). A study of mathematics achievement in relation to emotional intelligence and learning style. Delhi: DoE Publication.
- National Council of Educational Research and Training. (2005). National Curriculum Framework 2005. NCERT.
- National Policy on Education. (1986). National Policy on Education 1986 (Modified 1992). MHRD, Government of India.
- National Education Policy. (2020). National Education Policy 2020. Ministry of Education, Government of India.
- National Science Foundation. (n.d.). Reports on STEM education and learning environments. Retrieved from <https://www.nsf.gov/>
- Odeh, R. C., Oguche, A., & Ivagher, V. D. (2015). School environment and academic achievement of students in Nigeria. Journal of Education and Practice, 6(34), 89–96.
- Quenie, S. R., et al. (2021). School climate and student engagement in private secondary schools in the Philippines. International Journal of Educational Management, 35(3), 234–248.
- Romorosa, Q. S., et al. (2021). School climate and student academic engagement. [Unpublished Research].
- Salifu, I., & Bakari, S. (2022). School leadership, environment, and student mathematics achievement. International Journal of Educational Studies, 4(1), 112–124.

- Sarmah, R., & Hazarika, R. (2012). A study on mathematical interest among boys and girls: The role of school type. Assam: Department of Education.
- Saha, K. (2005). The impact of school environment on cognitive development. Calcutta: Indian Educational Review.
- Setia, R., & Ranjan, R. (2023). A correlative study of study habits and school environment in relation to academic achievement. International Journal of Educational Research Studies, 5(2), 78–85.
- Sharma, V. (2017). Comparative study on mathematical interest among VIII standard students in government and private schools. Journal of School Education Research, 3(1), 56–62.
- Shukla, N. (2020). A study of academic achievement of secondary school students in relation to their home and school environment. Educational Quest, 11(4), 241–248.
- Singh, L. (2019). Teacher professionalism, school climate and student performance. [Unpublished Thesis].
- Uitto, A., & Saloranta, S. (2010). Students' interests and environmental values in the Finnish school context. Nordic Studies in Science Education, 6(1), 49–63.
- Yadav, M., & Yadav, A. (2012). A comparative study of vocational interests among boys and girls in Gurukuls. Indian Journal of Psychology and Education, 2(3), 25–33.
- Gutierrez Jr., A. C., & Doronio, R. G. (2024). Classroom social environment and student engagement in mathematics. Philippine Journal of Educational Measurement, 8(1), 15–30.