ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to everyone who supported and contributed to the completion of this M.Ed dissertation. First and foremost, I extend my deep thanks to my academic supervisor Dr. Rajesh Kumar Sir, Assistant Professor, Department of Education, RIE Bhopal for his invaluable guidance, insightful feedback, and continuous encouragement throughout the research process. His expertise in the field of inclusive education has been instrumental in shaping this work. He has been the pillar of strength behind me in enduring and successfully completing this monumental task.

I am also thankful to Prof. Shiv Kumar Gupta, Principal, RIE Bhopal and Prof. Ayushman Goswami, Head, Department of Education for providing the best environment and support in the campus and department. I am also thankful to all other faculty members who have supported and guided me during the whole process.

I am also grateful to the faculty and administration of the teacher education colleges in Chapra who facilitated my data collection and allowed me to conduct this study with their B.Ed students. My heartfelt appreciation goes to the 40 B.Ed student respondents who participated in the survey; their honesty and thoughtfulness in sharing their perspectives on inclusive education provided the foundation of this research. In addition, I thank the District Institute of Education and Training (DIET) officers and college lecturers in Chapra who agreed to informal interviews. Their reflections and practical insights into the challenges of implementing inclusive education greatly enriched the qualitative aspects of this study.

Special thanks are due to my family and friends for their unwavering support and understanding during the many hours devoted to this research. Their encouragement kept me motivated and focused. I am particularly indebted to my parents, who instilled in me the value of education and inclusivity from an early age, and to my colleagues in the M.Ed program who offered feedback and moral support.

Finally, I acknowledge the scholars and authors whose work is cited in this dissertation. Their research laid the groundwork for my study and broadened my understanding of inclusive education. I have made every effort to duly credit all sources and any oversight is unintentional.

Thank you all for being part of this academic journey. Your contributions, big and small, have made the completion of this dissertation possible.
